

Community Initiatives Program (CIP) Sponsorship

True North Aid supports projects that empower communities with holistic and sustainable projects focused on, but not limited to:

- The advancement of education, cultural revitalization, and community-building
- Reclaiming plant/food sovereignty
- The promotion of holistic physical, emotional, mental, and spiritual well-being
- Equitable access to essential resources

Indigenous self-determination and self-governance are key to addressing inequities and social justice initiatives. CIP programs are developed by the community and go through a rigorous application process before funding is awarded.

You will...

- Commit to raise $10,000 through corporate donations and/or staff contributions
- Use tools provided by True North Aid (online fundraising portal)
- Receive key details from the community program you are sponsoring
- Distribute information to your group/staff/employees

$10,000 funds a program in a specific northern,
remote Indigenous Community

We will...

- Provide specific details on the Community program your organization will sponsor
- Provide a final report and photos to share with your team
- Ensure the funds go directly to the program
- Provide all tax receipting

a few program examples...

Cultural Programs for Youth
Community Gardens
Chicken Coops
Sports Programming
On-the-Land Activities
Mental Health Programs

